Description

since 1.4 its "more obvious" to edit ticket topic, description and more.

This is not that great for us because i cant set role permission for a group to allow ticket editing but NOT editing title and description. Till now, our "basic users" didnt see the "more"link, so the chance that someone would edit these texts was very small.

problems we got:

- chance that someone edits it but shouldnt
- the ok (confirm) button till now was always still on the screen. now on our basic 22" displays the ok buttin is "cut off"....
- confirming "ok" with pushing "enter" is only possible when you "tab" to the button possible features that would help:

- in the admin / config a possibility to choose between the "design" with the more link or the new design with all fields already there
- split role permission for ticket editing, something like
  - allow edit custom fields
  - allow edit ticket description and topic
  - allow edit "everything else"
- a hotkey like pressing enter and a focus on the "Ok/confirm" button. so scrolling down to confirm would be made easier.

if you want to stay with this (what i can understand for your purposes):

How difficult would it be for a noob like me to disable ( just comment out in the "view") all the lines that are not needed for us?

because there are even more fields we would not need like "target version" and stuff like that until now we ignored them, but now, if i would do some more "customisations" in "our redmine" i would think about "disableing" this stuff.

it s only because of viewing purposes.

- Status changed from New to Closed

- Resolution set to Duplicate

See #3521. You can now configure which fields are editable by role/tracker/status.
