Description

As discussed in Feature #703, could it be possible to add 'Not visible' in new 'fields permissions' form of workflows ?
This will have many impacts on :

- issue form,
- notifications. They will be different per role. That will happen also if only one of those hidden field is modified? Could we have no notification for people who don't have access to this custom field?
- issues tables with filters without those custom fields?

A simplification could be to decide that if one field is hidden, it is always hidden for this role and it is not depending on issue status.

What could you suggest please ?
