Description

It would be very useful for us to be able to break Estimated Time down into Activities - for example a project with 10hrs estimated time might have 2hrs in 'Planning', 6 hrs in 'Development' and 2hrs 'QA'.

By breaking this down we could them more easily see what activities are surpassing their estimated time.

The interface could be a link to add 'estimated time' entries in the same manner as log time entries, but without the date.

When looking at the report by activity, an extra column could be shown with what the estimated time would be.
