Description

I haven't been able to look deeply into the code, but here are the steps to reproduce:

1. browse to gantt view (global or project)

2. deselect related issues gantt option and click apply

- view is now correctly modified

3. click save to create a new query

4. the form will pickup the parameter so the related issues gantt option is already deselected (otherwise, deselect related issues gantt option)

5. save the query

Expected: new custom query related issues gantt option unchecked

Seen: new custom query related issues gantt option checked

Considering the fact that this is tested code (specifically QueriesControllerTest#test_create_project_query_from_gantt tests the use-case I use above) it makes sense to assume the error is encapsulated in the test because it doesn't fail.

I think this might be a problem with the correct passing of the :draw_relations parameter, because that is fixed in the test and missing in the actual request (see log snippets).
