Description

Maybe this has already been discussed, I could not find any related ticket however.

Currently the subject line only shows the project the ticket is inside.

[Subproject Ipsum - Bug #123] (New) This is the subject

It would be very useful for us to have the parent project also mentioned:

[Parent project Lorem > Subproject Ipsum - Bug #123] (New) This is the subject

As we have hundrets of quite similar subprojects running in parallel, the recipient should instantly see what parent project the issue belongs to.

I am aware that the subject line becomes even longer by this...

Thanks everybody
