| Description it would be very nice to have a kind of outlook synchronization implemented, so that a developer could sync his calendar from redmine to outlook to have a better track of expiring / starting tickets/tasks. | | | |

I am not really in Outlook but isnt outlook able to subscribe to published iCal? - There is a patch in #1077

It would be really nice to sync tasks from redmine with outlook. I would like to emphasize tasks is most important, not calendar.

Are there any news on this almost 4-year-old issue?

Bump.

This would be a killer feature for us to be able to mark a task as finished in outlook and have it propagate to Redmine and vice versa.

These two issues are linked in a way : <http://www.redmine.org/issues/4500>

Salesforce and redmine integration can be possible if we have an outlook and redmine integration plugin.
And i think there a more outlook users than Salesforce, but synch between outlook et redmine must be such a mess !

Does anyone have a piece of idea on how is it doable ?

You could check those:

<http://stackoverflow.com/questions/3295772/how-to-iterate-outlook-inbox-by-date-outlook-ole-automation> (Windows dll needed)
<http://code.google.com/p/ruby-msg/> (platform independent)

You can use Redmine Outlook Addin

- Sync tasks
- Create and edit tasks
- Create projects
- Convert emails to tasks and projects
- Weekly time logs
- Assign members
- Upload and download attachment
- Message board
- Import contacts, calendar
