I'm sorry Thanh, it looks like I removed the wrong issue.

I disagree - in the list view only the time booked to the master ticket is shown. In the ticket details page the sum of master plus alls subtickets are shown. Similar to #16092 the sum of all time entries should be saved in a separate field to be able see correct time sums in list view as expected and to support correct sums in (csv-)exports.
So I would vote for:

- time spent on this ticket (independant of parent or not)
- time spent on all sub (and sub-sub...) tickets only calculated if ticket has no parent_id

Jean-Philippe,

The commit r14273, which has been merged into the 3.1 branch, introduced an error as a "h" label is hard-coded in the function l_hours_short:

```
"%.2f h" % hours.to_f
```

This label should be translated through i18n. Asian users will surely report this anomaly.

Fixed in Redmine 3.1 (#11253).
A parent issue displays its own spent time and total spent time.
