Description

Hi ! At my job we have event on last friday of each month : We contribute to the project that we want. My choice was Redmine because we use it a lot in the company.

My feature request is very simple : On the Redmine's Redmine (redmine.org), having a text string custom field on the User model, so I would be able to write the company that I work for in my profile.

Thank you very much and have a great day !

I have the same request.

I was about to write a plugin containing author profile and set my redmine user profile there, but since in my user profile i can't name the company paying me for it, i will have to select another profile, might be github one where it is possible.
With company in my profile i would use my redmine profile.

- Status changed from New to Closed

- Assignee changed from Jean-Philippe Lang to Go MAEDA

- Resolution set to Fixed

I have just added two custom fields "Organization" and "Location" to users.
