Description

First of all, thanks for great software. We're using Redmine for IT development and plan to expand it to the entire organization. One of the things we'd like is to have easier time reporting.

1. Make the "Log Time" link available on the overview page so you can access it directly (not through reports)
2. Allow a tag in the commits (refs #123(4)) that allows you do commit your time so that developers don't explicitly have to write it into Redmine.
