Description

Currently, you can see total spent hours on the project overview page.

I think it is useful for project managers if total estimated hours are shown as well.

+1 Yes, could be useful.

I would also be great to have this information in a nice bar chart. But this is a future topic. ;-)

I think we should show first estimated hours and spent time after (it is more natural).

Thanks, probably you are right.

Although I prefer to show spent time first, I found that `VersionsController#show` shows estimated time first. I think I have to update my patch for consistency.
