Description

Currently, you can see total spent hours on the project overview page.

I think it is useful for project managers if total estimated hours are shown as well.

+1 Yes, could be useful.
I would also be great to have this information in a nice bar chart. But this is a future topic. ;-)

- Category changed from UI to Time tracking

Added a test to the previous patch. The updated fixture issues.yml is identical to the one in the patch #30474.

I think we should show first estimated hours and spent time after (it is more natural).

Thanks, probably you are right.

Although I prefer to show spent time first, I found that VersionsController#show shows estimated time first. I think I have to update my patch for consistency.

Updated the patch. The new patch switched the position of spent time and estimated time.
