Description
When we add new members to a project through the "New Member" modal, there is a search box and, if there are lots of users, pagination. <ul style="list-style-type: none">- If we attempt to search for a user, check it, then search for another one, the initial selection is lost.- If we use pagination at least twice, the same effect occurs (the users selected on one page are lost). This feature could be a good addition to redmine instances with lots of users
