Could you detailed steps to reproduce the problem?

#2 - 2019-07-30 10:04 - Slava Tretyak

- File 1.png added

- 1. open timesheet/index
- 2. choose "From" instead of "Period". Btw it could some default period instead of a 'mm/dd/yyyy'

- 3. select a date
- 4. select a user
- 5. click "Search"
- 6. it shows the result
- 7. have a look at "From". it shows again 'mm/dd/yyyy'. The period selected in step 3 should be kept.

#3 - 2019-07-30 10:11 - Slava Tretyak

it is really annoying cos every time you change the user you have to specify the period again and again and if you have forgotten to specify the period - it selects the whole data from the history and it is very slow because we have a lot of history data.

#4 - 2019-07-30 13:12 - Go MAEDA

- Status changed from Needs feedback to Closed
- Resolution set to Invalid

Probably the page "Timesheet" is provided by a third-party plugin. Plain Redmine does not have a page with such name.

Please contact the author of the plugin.
