Description

Would it be possible to add the My Projects list beneath / above the list of public projects, so that people can see all of the same information on the one page regarding the projects they have access to? The way I do projects is to make them all private then give out permissions to people who need them. Thanks.

"Projects" menu item now lists projects for which the user is a member (they are marked with a star).
I prefered this solution rather than 2 different lists.

Awesome, thank you Jean-Philippe.
