I don't know if I missed something, but on my installation (svn r2777, see script/about below), the new "test_show_atom" fails, while old version seems to work:

Any idea in order to debug that ?

I can confirm the same behaviour as Jean-Baptiste Barth using Redmine trunk at r2777 with a MySQL 4.1.x DB-backend.

ruby script/about
About your application's environment
Ruby version      1.8.6 (i686-linux)
RubyGems version  1.3.1
Rails version     2.2.2

Database adapter  mysql

#6 - 2009-06-06 12:05 - Jean-Philippe Lang

Same for me, r2770 breaks the test.

As you can see, double quotes are not escaped in the atom feed:

```
<content type="html">
<ul><li></li></ul></content>

#7 - 2009-06-07 20:15 - Eric Davis

In r2782, the test is working for me. Checking the response body, double quotes are escaped.

$ ruby test/functional/issues_controller_test.rb --name test_show_atom
Loaded suite test/functional/issues_controller_test
Started
Finished in 1.006513 seconds.

1 tests, 3 assertions, 0 failures, 0 errors
```

>> puts @response.body

My environment is close to Mischa's, but I have MySQL 5.0. The test still if I switch to SQLite3.

The failed test I reported on the 26th was from another server. After r2770, that server reported the test passing.

#10 - 2009-10-24 13:32 - Jean-Philippe Lang

- Status changed from Reopened to Closed

I reverted r2770 in r2960 since it seems to break the test for everyone, except Eric.
Eric, any idea?

#11 - 2009-10-27 01:26 - Eric Davis

Getting the same failure with that commit. My CI server is offline so I can't verify this on another system right now.

perhaps the test needs to be rewritten to work with either escaped or unescaped quotes?
