| Why does this sites' forum not allow for destruction of messages? Redmine does have this feature so it must mean that you actually configured it like this on this site. That's a serious privacy issue these days as users should always be in control of their own data. Please adjust settings accordingly. |                       |                          |           |
