- Status changed from New to Closed

- Resolution set to Wont fix

The Subproject filter will only select the subprojects to include objects from in addition to the current project. In other words, objects (such as issues or time entries) from the current project are always included. This is by design as was previously discussed e.g. in #3952 and #2512.

To show only issues from a single (sub-)project, you should navigate to this project and (depending on the default setting) add a filter to reject objects form subprojects. If you want to show issues from a specific set of projects, please use the global issues/ time entries filter where you can use the Project filter which allows you to select the sepfic projects you like.

As this works by as designed, I'm closing this issue.
