Description

I just upgraded to the newest version of Redmine in order to take advantage of the subtask feature. However I can't group tasks for a particular project by Parent Task.

To replicate go to a project and choose "Issues" from the top menu. Choose the "options" section and then open up the drop down menu for "group results by". I have attached a screenshot.

- Status changed from New to Closed

- Resolution set to Duplicate

See #5196.

The patch indicated in #5196 was applied prior to reporting this and did not fix this issue. Can this issue please be reopened and looked at.

If you follow the steps about you'll see that you can not group by parent task.

#3 - 2010-05-18 15:25 - Rosalyn Metz

- Status changed from Closed to Reopened

I'm reopening this since it isn't duplicated by the #5196

#4 - 2011-01-28 17:37 - Tom Finger

- File RedmineSubtasks.png added

Interim workaround less than optimal: Name your subjects in descending alphabetical order. Then the tasks will be indented on the issues display.

See attached.

It's so strange that this is not possible.

The attached patch could be used to add the feature, but it's not tested.
Could somebody with more insight check my changes, please? I am planning to use it in production aswell and was wondering why the parent task is not in the list of groupable columns.

+1 It would be very useful if this is implemented.

+1 required in some use-case scenarios.

This issue was raised 11 years ago and has still not been addresses. For anyone wanting at least half-serious workflow it is essential to be able to list issues with the related sub issues.

There's even been a patch provided by note-18 and it just needs to be integrated by a developer (which I'm unfortunately not).

Can we get someone to take this please? Are there bounties for Redmine devs to help to get this done?

- File 0001-groupable-by-parent-task.patch added

+1 I think Issues list would be more useful if grouping by Parent Task can be realized.
I made a patch that works on the Latest trunk and attache it.

We need this feature too.
