I'm sorry, but I don't see any "bad" words in that image. The image is there just to demonstrate the functionality of the gantt chart, so dummy content was used.

The demo site, as well as much of the images in the documentation uses randomly created data to showcase specific functionality.

Name of Feature #93 in Russian is a foul word (obscene, abuse). I understand that it's not a great trouble, but to see it on the official site is not right. It's not difficult to put a new one example, if you want, I can help you with this. Sorry for worring with it.
