Description I wrote a Bash scanner for Coderay/Redmine. The work is based on php.rb and http://redmine.rubychan.de/attachments/download/78/bash.rb .  The work: http://freebox.vn/attachments/download/421/bash.rb  Please test and consider to add this scanner to Redmine trunk ;)  Thank you.

We include coderay as is, please post your proposed patch there, but thanks for the proposal :-)

Thanks for suggestion. I can only ensure that my script works with Redmine/Coderay, but not with generic Coderay. Anyway, I will try to post there :)

If it works here, it will work there too ;-) There's also a short guide on how to use coderay from within irb (interactive ruby) on the coderay homepage, I think you can figure out how to test your parser.

Could you please attach the file here? The location you gave is not valid anymore.

Thank you in advance.

I am sorry , but the last url 1 year ago was invalid , too.

It return "403 Forbidden".

Could you just upload it here?
