Description

I searched, but could not find anything similar to my request.

Is there anyway to implement a show-hide toggle for the right column/pane/area when viewing the Issues tab? This is the pane where one finds the View All Issues link, Summary link, and Custom Queries. As it is now, that panel takes up screen real estate that could be better utilized by adding visible columns to the issues list. Because that right area is so wide, many of the visible columns are blocked.

I remember seeing a plugin I think for hiding a left navigation bar, but I cannot find it now. That is a similar idea to this one.

Thanks and great job on Redmine.
