Description

The QA team members of my company wanted to see the attached images on issue body.
so I made this patch

- I added one more project settings field, show_image for setting.
- If the attached file is image, this makes public/images/files directory and moves that file to that directory.
  This may not be a best solution, but I think to show attached images on issue body is useful.

- Status changed from New to Closed

Superseded by #1006. As reported by Ivan Cenov in RE: Bugday's Integration, something like this has been implemented, via #1006, in Redmine 2.1.0.
