Redmine - Feature #8363
Git: Pull requests

2011-05-13 03:46 - Be Fio

Status:	New		Start date:	2011-05-13
Priority:	Normal		Due date:
Assignee:			% Done:	0%
Category:	SCM		Estimated time:	0.00 hour
Target version:
Resolution:

Description

There was a plugin that aimed to do this, called Redmine extras, but it never really got anywhere.

I'd like to see the ability to let people to do a pull request to your project, similar to GitHub (but any URL form any place can be used, to allow full functionality). Maybe also allow GitHub support somehow.

https://github.com/shadowbq/redmine-git-extras-plugin

History

#1 - 2011-05-13 03:47 - Be Fio

from any place*

#2 - 2011-05-27 16:49 - Etienne Massip

- Category set to SCM

#3 - 2012-04-11 05:57 - Anonymous

Not only git but also for all DCVS please.

And togher with #9427, redmine will rocks like github or bitbucket.

#4 - 2013-11-09 20:10 - TridenT Job

Yes, all DVCS could benefits from Pull request feature.

#5 - 2016-10-25 19:41 - Warren Postma

I am starting to think that the time for putting this in Redmine is long past.

These days I would just install Gitlab and then integrate Gitlab with my redmine bug tracker.

In fact, if anyone is interested in doing exactly this, I am considering writing a redmine-gitlab plugin (for gitlab).

When someone commits or merges in Gitlab, I want comments auto-posted in Redmine.

Redmine's repository (vcs) features were designed in a Subversion world and don't make sense in Git world.

#6 - 2017-10-13 14:49 - Peter Volkov

Warren Postma wrote:

> I am starting to think that the time for putting this in Redmine is long past.

We are going to do exactly the same. But, hey, may be there is better solution? I found following modules:

https://github.com/xueqiu/redmine_pull_requests

https://github.com/pixel-cookers/redmine_gitlab_merge_request but they look orphaned.

#7 - 2017-11-13 10:08 - Vasili Korol

I think this functionality is a musthave in Redmine. If we don't find a good solution for this in the nearest year or so, we will have to start migrating to Gitlab, or smth similar.

#8 - 2019-01-30 00:53 - Yasukazu Nagatomi

+1

#9 - 2019-03-05 14:11 - Enziin System

+1

Redmine lack some feature repository management as a pull request, create/add/remove repository on settings (at now, it only import repositories, not create or delete).