

Redmine - Defect #8741

Git: diff is always empty in merged revision

2011-07-03 23:53 - Dave Abrahams

Status: Closed	Start date: 2011-07-03
Priority: Low	Due date:
Assignee:	% Done: 0%
Category: SCM	Estimated time: 0.00 hour
Target version:	Affected version: 1.2.0
Resolution: Duplicate
Description A URL of the form https://hub.boostpro.com/projects/embt/repository/revisions/a74df08c89e1120f82c79619b32d657adb1d04f5 gets me a screen with the commit message, but not even a list of files. I have to append /diff to the URL to even find out that Redmine has decided not to show that detail because it's so large. By the way, is there a place I can adjust that limit?

I kept bumping those up until eventually the /diff URL stopped telling me that it was truncating the diffs, but still wouldn't show any diffs.

I think it's a defect (in both those pages) when you leave out information without explaining its absence. Just sayin'.

Git is DAG. Git has many parents. If merge revision has no changes, diff is empty.

For example,

I believe the message from Redmine that the changes are too large to show conflicts with your theory that there are no changes to show.

I can't see <https://hub.boostpro.com/projects/embt/repository/revisions/a74df08c89e1>, because this site uses self certified ssl.

It's also password protected because it contains sensitive data, so even if you allowed the certificate, you wouldn't be able to see it. I'm doing my best with this bug report and if you would like some other kind of information, please tell me what it is.

I close as duplicate of #20693.

This issue is not smart.
