

Redmine - Defect #89

Svn changes don't show up in the Activity section until you view the Repository section

Description
Just like the title says: If you make some changes to your repository (in my case SVN), the changes wont show up in the Activity page until you view the Repository page. My guess is that this is a problem with the caching not being refreshed for the Activity section. Or it is a problem of the Repository page viewing, being a trigger to update any changes in the Activity page.
