Description
Currently, when I add a new forum post, I have to follow up the post with an email to project members letting them know I added a new post just in case they did not select "Watch" for that particular forum. It would be nice to have a checkbox list of project members below the post to notify specific members that a forum post was placed. Basecamp does a good job of this. There is a plugin Boards/Wiki/Issues watchers management which can do the similar job.
