Description

My project hierarchy is one TopProject with two sub-projects: SubProject1 and SubProject2.

A version named "2011-release" is created in TopProject and shared to all sub-projects.

Then SubProject1 contains one task of which % DONE is 50%; SubProject2 contains one task of which % DONE is 100%.

The progress of TopProject is 75%, which is correct.

But in the roadmap view of SubProject1 and SubProject2, both show the same 75% progress as in TopProject.

It would be better to see 50% in SubProject1 and 100% in SubProject2.

I've checked the source code, and found out that project is not counted in `version.completed_pourcent()`.
