It is happening with default theme too.

I'm not able to reproduce this with the default themes on a vanilla Redmine (source/trunk@7853) either.

Sir,

It happened when I created a sub project and then deleted the same. After I went back to the issue list for the parent project, the issue list floated to the right and when I went to check the base.rhtml file, I could see that the content and sidebar statements were not as it should be. I was able to fix the floating issue list but the sidebar still sticks to the bottom on the right side. I also tried using the clear property for it, and it was still the same. Below is the code snippet from that file.

```
<%= tag('div', {:id => 'main', :class => (has_content?(:sidebar) ? " : 'nosidebar')}, true) %>
```

```
&lt;div id="content"&gt;
  <%= render_flash_messages >
  <= yield >
  <= call_hook :view_layouts_base_content %>
  &lt;div style="clear:none;"&gt;&lt;/div&gt;
&lt;/div&gt;
```

```
&lt;div id="sidebar"&gt;
  <%= yield :sidebar >
  <= call_hook :view_layouts_base_sidebar %>
&lt;/div&gt;
```

```

```
